Course overload eligibility is required to follow this program schedule option. Students must obtain a GPA of 2.5 or better in the first 2 quarters in order to qualify for course overload.
